Neil Smith

President and General Manager

Born: January 9, 1954
Toronto, Ontario

Since joining the Rangers on July 17, 1989, Neil Smith has reshaped the organization into one of the elite franchises in the National Hockey League.

In his first three seasons as general manager, New York finished in first place twice (1989-90 and 1991-92) and second place once (1990-91), the best three consecutive finishes in club history.

Neil's outstanding accomplishments with the Rangers were recognized following the season with two tremendous honors.

First, he was named the "NHL Executive of the Year" by The Sporting News, as voted by NHL general managers and governor's becoming the first Rangers executive to ever capture the award.

And then, on June 19, he was promoted to the position of president/general manager, becoming the ninth president in Rangers' history and the first president to also hold the title of general manager.

The 1991-92 Rangers featured a blend of veteran leadership and promising young players, as the club finished as the NHL's Regular Season Champions for only the fourth time in their history and first time since the 1941-42 season. The team recorded 50 wins, setting a club record for most wins in a season.

Neil has built the Rangers through his extraordinary ability to recognize talent and by making bold moves when necessary.

Through the NHL Entry Draft, Neil has added players like Sergei Nemchinov and Doug Weight, who have already established themselves in New York, while prospects Alexei Kovalev, Michael Stewart, Darcy Werenka, Peter and Chris Ferraro, Mattais Norstrom and Corey Hirsch give the Rangers a solid foundation for the future.

In addition, when given an opportunity to improve the club through trades or signing free agents, Neil has acted quickly to add even more talent to the Rangers lineup.

Over his first two seasons at the helm, Smith acquired Mike Gartner, Kris King, Joe Cirella, Joe Kocur and Tie Domi. Last season he obtained Mark Messier, Jeff Beukeboom, Randy Gilhen and Jay Wells through trades, while signing free agent Adam Graves.

Messier, one of the NHL's premier players and five time winner of the Stanley Cup with the Edmonton Oilers, brought his winning style to New York, as he won his second Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player.

Graves, who had scored only seven goals the year before, became a very important part of the team, scoring a career high 25 goals, while capturing the players' player award and the Steven McDonald "Extra Effort" award.

Neil was also hard at work during the offseason, re-signing verterans Brian Leetch, Mike Richter, John Vanbiesbrouck, Jan Erixon, Tie Domi and Jan Wells. In addition, he signed free agent Phil Bourque and named Dan Maloney an assistant coach.

A native of Toronto, Ontario, Smith played junior hockey at Brockville, Ontario, before entering Western Michigan University, where he became an All-America defenseman as a freshman and team captain in his second year. In September of 1991, Neil was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame, the first hockey player ever given the honor.

After being selected by the New York Islanders in the 1974 draft and playing two seasons in the International Hockey League, Neil joined the Islanders scouting department before the '79-80 season.

Following two seasons in that capacity, he joined the Detroit Red Wings in 1982 as director of professional scouting and soon after became director of their entire farm system.

Smith was then named director of scouting/player procurement and general manager/governor of the Adirondack Red Wings of the AHL, where he won two Calder Cup championships.

Roger Neilson

Head Coach

Veteran National Hockey League coach completed his third season behind the Rangers bench by guiding the team to the NHL Regular Season Championship with a record of 50 wins, 25 losses and five ties for 105 points.

The Rangers total of 50 wins set a club record, surpassing the 49 victories achieved in 1970-71 and the 105 points were the third highest total in team history.

For his efforts, he was named a finalist for the Jack Adams Trophy as the National Hockey League's Coach of the Year for the second time in his three seasons as Rangers coach.

The three years with the Rangers is the longest stint of his NHL career, and he has posted a mark of 122-87-31. His 240 games are fifth on the club's all-time list and his 122 victories are fourth on the Rangers' all-time list. His winning percentage of .573 is currently the second best mark in club history, trailing only Emile Francis' .602 winning percentage.

The Rangers season was also a career best for Neilson, surpassing his previous highs of 41 wins with Toronto in '77-78 and 99 points with Buffalo in '81-82.

In his three seasons as Rangers coach, Roger has guided the team to two first place finishes ('89-90 and '91-92) and one second place finish ('90-91), the best three consecutive finishes in club history.

In 1989-90, Roger led the Rangers to their first first place finish since the 1941-42 season with a 36-31-13 record and was named a finalist for the Jack Adams Trophy.

In 1990-91, New York posted an identical record, but finished in second place, three points behind Pittsburgh, after holding the first place spot for a team record 153 days.

On March 1st of 1992, Roger reached a coaching milestone becoming only the 18th coach in league history to win 300 games, as the Rangers defeated the Hartford Whalers, 9-4.

After playing minor hockey in the Toronto area in the mid-sixties, Roger joined the Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association in a scouting role. He became coach of the Petes before the start of the 1966-67 season and remained for 10 seasons. While there, Peterborough won one OHA championship and finished lower than third only twice.

His success in junior hockey led him to the professional ranks in 1976-77, when he was named head coach of the Dallas Black Hawks of the Central Hockey League.

After only one season in Dallas, he entered the National Hockey League as head coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs. In two seasons with the Leafs (1977-78 and 1978-79) he produced two winning campaigns, the last winning seasons that Toronto has had. In his first year, Neilson also took the club to the semi-finals in the playoffs.

Roger was named as associate coach of the Buffalo Sabres in June of 1979 under Scotty Bowman and took the head coaching duties with 26 games remaining in the 1979-80 season. The next season he was behind the bench the entire year as he led the Sabres to a record of 39-20-21.

In June of 1981, Neilson joined the Vancouver Canucks as associate coach under Harry Neale. Late in the 1981-82 campaign, Neilson took the reins of the team when Neale was suspended and went 4-0-1. He continued to coach the club in the playoffs and Vancouver, who finished the regular-season 22nd overall, eliminated Calgary, Los Angeles and Chicago before being stopped by the New York Islanders in the Stanley Cup Finals.

He also had a brief head coaching stint in 1983-84 when he succeeded Don Perry as coach of the Los Angeles Kings for the final 28 games of the season.

In 1984, Neilson became a co-coach under Bob Pulford with the Chicago Blackhawks and remained in that position for three seasons. Over the next two seasons, he worked for the Hawks in a scouting capacity and also did some broadcasting for Canadian television.

For the past 13 years, Roger, who has a degree in physical education from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, has run a five-week hockey school in Peterborough and for the past four years he has run a three-day coaching clinic at the University of Windsor.

His constant companion is his dog, Mike, a white husky Labrador, who travels with him virtually everywhere he goes, including team practices and daily jogging exercises.

Roger, who taught seven years at Willowdale High School in Toronto before moving to Peterborough, has traveled to Africa, Israel and China. Two of his favorite pastimes are watching MTV and eating at Dunkin' Donuts. He is single and spends the off season at his home on Chemong Lake in Ontario.

Larry Pleau

Assistant General Manager/ Player Development

Larry Pleau, who joined the Rangers organization in August of 1989, enters his fourth season as the club's assistant general manager/player development.

Pleau assists Neil Smith, the team's president and general manager, with the development of all amateur players in the organization, while he also oversees the day-to-day operation of the Rangers scouting department. In addition, he is involved in player transactions and the selection of players at the NHL Entry Draft.

While Larry is rarely seen at Madison Square Garden, he travels extensively throughout the year to Europe, Canada and across the United States to prepare for the draft and check on the development of Rangers prospects playing in high school, college, junior hockey or in Europe. Larry also served as the assistant general manager for the United States team in the 1991 Canada Cup.

Pleau, 45, played three seasons with the Montreal Canadiens (1969-70 — 1971-72) in the National Hockey League, before being the first player signed by the Hartford Whalers of the World Hockey Association. He was a center/left wing for the Whalers from 1972 until his retirement in 1979. He played in a total of 468 regular-season games for Hartford, accumulating 157 goals and 215 assists for 372 points. In 66 playoff contests, he registered 29 goals and 22 assists for 51 points.

During his time with the Whalers, Larry scored 25 goals or more on four occasions and was selected to play in the WHA All-Star Game three times (1973, 1974 and 1975).

Pleau also played for the 1968 United States Olympic Team, the 1969 U.S. National Team and for Team USA in the 1976 Canada Cup Tournament.

A native of Lynn, Mass., after retiring in 1979 Larry became an assistant coach with the Whalers. He remained in that position until Feb. 20, 1981, when he took the reins as head coach.

The following season he added to his responsibilities as head coach and became the club's director of hockey operations.

After two seasons in that position and a year as assistant general manager under Emile Francis, Pleau became director of hockey operations and head coach of the Binghamton Whalers of the American Hockey League in 1984-85.

In his first season at Binghamton, he led the team to a first-place finish with a record of 52-20-8 and in his third season (1986-87) he guided the club to a mark of 47-26-7, as he was named the AHL's Coach of the Year.

Larry remained in Binghamton for three and a half seasons before returning to Hartford as head coach for the remainder of the 1987-88 campaign and all of the 1988-89 season.

Larry and his wife, Wendy, live in the Hartford area with their son, Steve, and daughter, Shannon. Steve is a freshman at University of New Hampshire, where he plays on the school's hockey team.

Rangers Assistant Coaches

Colin Campbell

Rangers general manager Neil Smith brought 17 years of experience in professional hockey to the New York Rangers by naming former NHL defenseman Colin Campbell as an assistant coach in August of 1990.

Campbell, who served as an assistant coach with the Detroit Red Wings for five seasons, played 11 seasons in the NHL and one season in the World Hockey Association.

A native of London, Ontario, Campbell, 39, played junior hockey for Peterborough of the Ontario Hockey League. He was drafted by the Pittsburgh Penguins as their third choice (27th overall) in the 1973 NHL Amateur Draft, but signed to play with Vancouver of the WHA.

After one WHA season, Campbell switched to the NHL and played four years with Pittsburgh, one each with the Colorado Rockies and the Edmonton Oilers and two seasons with the Vancouver Canucks.

Campbell, who played on the Canucks team that went to the 1982 Stanley Cup Finals under Roger Neilson, signed with the Red Wings as a free agent in July of 1982.

He went on to play three seasons with Detroit and retired after the 1984-85 season to become an assistant coach with the team.

Nicknamed "Soupy," he and his wife Heather, reside in Rye, New York, with their daughters Lauren and Courtney and son Gregory.

Dan Maloney

On September 3, Rangers President and General Manager Neil Smith continued with his trend of bringing well-respected, experienced hockey people to New York by naming Dan Maloney as an assistant coach.

"We are always looking to bring top hockey people into our organization and in Dan Maloney that is just what we have done," said Smith. "He has a great deal of experience in the NHL as a player and as a coach and we were very lucky to have an opportunity to bring him to the Rangers."

Maloney, 41, began his NHL career as a left wing with the Chicago Blackhawks in 1970-71. He went on to play 11 seasons in the NHL with Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit and Toronto. He was team captain while with the Red Wings, while serving as assistant captain of the Kings and Maple Leafs.

Ironically, Dan participated in two of the most memorable games at Madison Square Garden. In 1971 he was a member of the Blackhawks when the Rangers' Pete Stemkowski scored in triple overtime and in 1975 he played for the Red Wings when former Rangers goaltender Eddie Giacomin returned to the Garden as a Red Wing.

The native of Barrie, Ontario, retired after the 1981-82 season to become an assistant coach with Toronto. He remained in that position for two seasons, before being named as the Maple Leafs head coach for the 1984-85 season.

After coaching Toronto for two seasons, he became head coach of the Winnipeg Jets for the 1986-87 season, where he remained for two and a half seasons.

In April of 1989, Maloney served as assistant coach of the Canadian National Team at the World Championships.

Dan and his wife Susanne spend the off-season in Barrie with their three children, Shelley, Tom and Matthew.

BINGHAMTON RANGERS

Ron Smith

Head Coach

On July 25, 1991 New York Rangers general manager Neil Smith announced that Ron Smith, who has served the previous two seasons as a New York Rangers assistant coach, would coach the Binghamton Rangers of the American Hockey League.

Ron's first season with Binghamton was very successful as the team's 41-30-9 mark, earned the Rangers first place honors in the AHL's Southern Division. In the playoffs, Binghamton was defeated by Rochester in a hard fought seven game series in the second round after the Rangers won four straight vs. the Utica Devils.

Smith, 47, joined the Rangers organization on August 15, 1989 as an assistant coach, after coaching the Guelph Platers of the Ontario Hockey League in 1988-89.

A native of Gault, Ontario, Ron has also served as an assistant coach for two years with the Toronto Maple Leafs, two seasons with the Buffalo Sabres and two and a half years with the Vancouver Canucks. In addition, he served as associate coach with the New Jersey Devils for a season and a half.

Smith began his coaching career with Guelph (Tier II) in 1972-73 and remained there until 1975-76. He served as head coach at York University in Ontario for one season (1978-79) and spent the 1985-86 campaign as an assistant coach and director of player personnel for the Canadian Olympic program.

Ron worked for eight years as technical director of the Ontario Association and was instrumental in the creation of the National Coaching Certification program for Canadian coaches. Ron also teamed with Doug Carpenter during the 1985 World Championships in Prague, leading Team Canada to a silver medal.

Ron played baseball in the San Francisco Giants organization in the mid-sixties where he was teammates with Bobby Bonds and Tito Fuentes.

Ron spends the off-season with his wife, Patti, and their two sons, Landry and Devin.

Al Hill

Assistant Coach

Al Hill was named assistant coach in August of 1990, and has been a valuable asset to the Binghamton Rangers ever since. Hill, 36 was an assistant coach with the Hershey Bears prior to joining the Rangers organization. He was teammates with former Binghamton coach John Paddock with the Philadelphia Flyers in 1979-80 and played on two AHL Calder Cup Championship teams in Maine (1984) and Hershey (1988).

A former NHL center, Hill a native of Nanaimo, British Columbia, played in 221 National Hockey League regular season games, all with the Flyers. In his first game, he scored two goals and three assists in a 6-4 win over St. Louis on Valentine's Day, 1977. The five point total remains a record for most points by a player in his first NHL game. Hill also played in 655 AHL games with Springfield, Maine, Moncton, and Hershey.

Al and his wife Deanna spend the off-season in Hershey, Pennsylvania with their children Justin and Jarrod.

Rangers Alumni Association

With the motto of "Keeping in Touch with Tradition," the Rangers Alumni Association has become an increasingly more visable organization.

The association participates in various charity softball games and hockey games throughout the year, while many members of the RAA often represent the Rangers at golf outings and youth hockey clinics.

The two most prestigious functions of the Alumni Association are the Sharp Electronics Legends Game played at Madison Square Garden and the annual Golf Outing.

At the golf outings held in September the Rangers honored two people who were instrumental in the formation of the RAA 10 years ago, Bill Chadwick and Steve Vickers. Above left, former play-by-play man Jim Gordon (right) makes a presentation to "The Big Whistle" and above right, former Rangers captain Dave Maloney welcomes Vickers.

The Rangers' Pete Stemkowski and the Flyers' Rick MacLeish face off at last season's Legends Game.

Ice Hockey in Harlem

The Upward Fund/Ice Hockey In Harlem program—now in its sixth season—is an organization that strives for academic and athletic excellence for inner city youngsters. Clinics are held for the children once a week at Lasker Rink in Central Park. The Rangers, led by IHIH Celebrity Chairman Mike Gartner, are very involved in helping the program, which has gotten bigger and bigger every year. At right, John Vanbiesbrouck instructs the youngsters at a clinic.

The Rangers' Official Emblem

One of the proudest and most historic franchises in the National Hockey League. That's the New York Rangers, who are embarking on their 67th season of National Hockey League play in 1992-93.

The 90's has marked the beginning of a brand new era in the storied history of the Rangers. The naming of Neil Smith as vice president and general manager of the team in July of 1989 and his subsequent appointment of an entirely new management team, including the appointment of head coach Roger Neilson, directed the Rangers toward the decade of the 1990s.

Smith, who was named as the club's first President/General Manager in June of 1992, has built one of the most powerful franchises in Rangers history.

In his first three years with the Rangers, Smith has led the team to its best consecutive finishes ever: first place in 1989-90 and 1991-92 and second place in 1990-91.

Back in the 1920s and 1930s, the Rangers were known as "the classiest team in hockey," and the description was certainly an accurate one. In fact, few sporting teams have come into existence with such a wave of success.

Under the astute managership and coaching of Lester Patrick, hockey's famed "Silver Fox," the Rangers were nearly unbeatable in those early years.

Actually, the birth of the Rangers was something of a team effort that involved Patrick, Madison Square Garden fight promoter Tex Rickard and Conn Smythe, then a successful hockey man in Toronto.

Rickard had become fascinated with hockey, and was convinced the game would be enthusiastically supported in the Garden, the world's premier sports arena that had opened its doors just a year earlier.

The team was jocularly called "Tex's Rangers," and the latter part of the name stuck.

Patrick worked his magic from the very start. The Rangers were an instant smash, both on the ice and at the box office, as New Yorkers immediately took to hockey.

Ranger games were the place to be in those days, and the club attracted a formal, "dinner-jacket" crowd to the games, which began at 8:45 P.M. The fans were headed by no less a personage than the Mayor of New York himself, the Honorable Jimmy Walker.

In their first 16 seasons, the Rangers missed the playoffs only once, and only twice did they fall lower than third place. New York won three regular-season championships in that span, finished second five times and third on six other occasions. They also won three Stanley Cups.

In short, the Rangers built an empire, and New Yorkers loved every minute of it.

The Original Rangers were led by the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun, and Frank Boucher, who won the Lady Byng Trophy so many times the league finally gave it to him permanently. Among the "originals," Bill Cook, Boucher, and colorful defenseman Ching Johnson all made it to the Hockey Hall of Fame.

As the "originals" started to fade out, they were replaced by another stellar group of Ranger stars. Boucher was now coaching the club, while Lester Patrick concentrated on the managerial chores.

Once again, New Yorkers had a brother combination to cheer for. This time it was Neil and Mac Colville, and Alex Shibicky was their linemate. High-scoring Bryan Hextall, fiery Phil Watson, the Patrick brothers, Lynn and Muzz, goalie Dave Kerr, and defensemen Babe Pratt and Art Coulter were all stalwarts of that era.

World War II broke up the gang of Ranger All-Stars, but despite the fall in the team's fortunes after the war, there were still many individual stars on Broadway. Chuck Rayner, Buddy O'Connor, Edgar Laprade, Hy Buller, and Bones Raleigh were standouts in the late Forties and early Fifties.

The arrival of Andy Bathgate in New York signalled another era in Ranger history. Bathgate, twice a first team All-Star, and then the holder of most Ranger scoring records, was the Rangers' superstar for almost a decade. Little Camille Henry, goalie Gump Worsley, Harry Howell, and Dean Prentice were other fans' favorites.

Some 10 years later, another star right wing heralded the Rangers' newest era. Rod Gilbert eventually eclipsed all of Bathgate's scoring records with the club, and played a decade and a half of stellar hockey in New York.

Other stars of that era included Gilbert's linemates, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield, goalie Ed Giacomin, defenseman Brad Park, and center Walt Tkaczuk.

New stars like Anders Hedberg, Ulf Nilsson, Barry Beck, Ron Greschner, Phil Esposito, John Davidson, and the Maloney brothers, Dave and Don, ushered the Rangers into a decade of the 1980s. The team dramatically marched to the Stanley Cup Finals in 1979, and showed real signs of returning to the days of past glory.

The 1990's have already seen the Rangers begin their rise to the top, considering that in '89-90 New York finished in first place for the first time in 48 years. And, in '91-92 the club finished with the league's best record, winning the Presidents' Trophy. In recording a club record 50 wins, the Rangers won the Regular Season Championship for only the fourth time in team history.

The 1991-92 season also marked the arrival of Mark Messier, who went on to become team captain and win the Hart Trophy as the MVP of the NHL and the emergence of Brian Leetch, who at only 23 years of age, won the Norris Trophy as the NHL's best defenseman.

Add to Messier and Leetch the names of Mike Gartner, James Patrick, Adam Graves, Tony Amonte and the goaltending duo of John Vanbiesbrouck and Mike Richter and the Rangers, and their fans, have a lot to be excited about.

Rye Playland

OFFICIAL PRACTICE FACILITY OF THE NEW YORK RANGERS

Playland
Rye, New York

For the past 13 seasons the New York Rangers have held their daily practices at Rye Playland's Ice Casino. Playland is one of the summer's hottest attractions, an amusement park featuring the "Dragon Coaster." Several times each season the Rangers hold practices that are open to the public. This season, open practices are scheduled for Nov. 29 (10:30 AM), Dec. 28 (11:30 AM) and March 21 (10:30 AM). Left, Mike Gartner at one of last season's open practices.

Steven McDonald Award

Following the 1987-88 season, the Rangers, in conjunction with Mitsubishi Motors, presented a new award dedicated to paralyzed New York City police officer Steven McDonald. The award, the Steven McDonald "Extra Effort Award", is for the Rangers player "who goes above and beyond the call of duty."

The inaugural winner was Jan Erixon in 1987-88, and NHL rookie-of-the-year finalist Tony Granato captured the award in 1988-89 before Kelly Kisio and John Vanbiesbrouck were named co-winners in 1989-90. Jan Erixon became the first repeat winner of the award in 1990-91 and Adam Graves who was signed as a free agent from the Edmonton Oilers last September, was the recipient for the 1991-92 season.

Along with the trophy, Graves received a new Mitsubishi Eclipse Sports Coupe, courtesy of Mitsubishi Motors. Mitsubishi Motors also presented a check for $15,000 to the Steven McDonald Foundation.

Lars-Erik Sjoberg Award

For the fourth consecutive year, the New York Rangers, in conjunction with the Professional Hockey Writer's Association, presented the Lars-Erik Sjoberg Award, symbolic of the best rookie in training camp.

Sjoberg was the Rangers European Scout from 1980 until he passed away in October of 1987. In his time with New York, the Rangers drafted many NHLers such as Reijo Ruotsalainen, Jan Erixon, Peter Sundstrom, Tomas Sandstrom, Peter Andersson, Kjell Samuelsson and Ulf Dahlen.

The 1991 winner, Tony Amonte, was the Rangers fourth round pick, 68th overall, in the 1988 NHL Entry Draft, following his junior year in high school at Thayer Academy (Massachusetts) where he was linemates with Jeremy Roenick.

Amonte is the fourth recipient of the Lars-Erik Sjoberg Award following Steven Rice in 1990, Troy Mallette in 1989 and the inaugural winner of the award, Mike Richter in 1988.
